Penarth WOMEN'S Trail

Following on from the popular Barry Women's Trail this booklet celebrates the many Penarth women who have achieved great things during their lives. Continuing the same format from the companion booklet the entries will take you on a tour of Penarth while recording their significant contributions to public life.

Special place of interest HarbourView Road
CF64 1HE

Edith was a distance swimmer who swam from Penarth to Weston-super-Mare in August 1929, when she was just 16 years old. She then became the first woman reporter for the Reuters News Agency in Paris and London and the first woman editor of a Sunday newspaper. Later the editorial manager of Higham's advertising agency she tragically died at just 25 after giving birth to a child in 1938, who also died.

2 Catherine Guthrie Mezey

1879 - 1957

Special place of interest Catherine Mezey Flats, Queen's Road
CF64 1HL

Catherine was a noted benefactor, especially to the poor and needy during the Great Depression and both World Wars. She organised a Cigarette Fund for soldiers in First World War; the Penarth Santa Claus Fund for the needy and created the Samaritan Fund. The latter provided aid for the sick throughout the year and made gifts of coal at Christmas time. The flats were named after her in recognition of her good work.

3 Marguerite (Bunty) Thomas

1919 - 2003

Special place of interest Commemorative Bench, St. Augustine's Church, Church Place South CF64 1BA

Marguerite was a much-respected and inspirational ballet teacher in Penarth. She was made a Life Member of the Royal Academy of Dance for her lifelong dedication to the teaching of dance. Many of her students achieved successful entries to the Royal Ballet School and other university dance training courses. The event 'Dancing Together' managed by the Royal Academy of Dance, Wales Region, was made possible by a generous bequest from her, leaving a legacy of her continued devotion to dance.

4 Hester (Hettie) Millicent Mackenzie 1863 - 1942

Special place of interest 107 Glebe Street CF64 1ED
Used as a suffrage shop and campaign HQ

Hettie was a suffragist and professor of education and in fact was the first woman in Britain to be addressed as 'professor'. She was the first Welsh woman to stand for Parliament in 1918. A branch of the suffragist movement, dedicated to winning the vote for women, was founded in Cardiff in 1908 and Hettie was one of the founding members.

5 Hilda Janet Cross 1917 - 2013

Special place of interest Albert Road Post Office
CF64 1XL

Born in Penarth, Hilda joined the Post Office in the 1930s and trained in London. She became a counter clerk in Penarth and later taught at the Post Office training school in Cardiff. In a male-dominated world, Hilda rose through the ranks to become Postmistress of Albert Road Post Office in Penarth, where she worked until her retirement in 1977. She was a lifelong member of the Albert Road Methodist Church, holding many different offices, including treasurer/secretary of the ladies' Sisterhood until she was almost 90.

6 Joan Collins 1931 - 2008
