It breaks my heart that people can be so shortsighted in considering development on this precious land.

The ancient woodland and hedgerows are home to endangered and protected species including bats, birds, [redacted] and hares. How can this development possibly be deemed more important? Will it bring many much-needed jobs to the area? No!

Once this land is gone, it's gone forever. Please do the right thing and take the long view and preserve our green and pleasant land.

Thank you
