3. How do proposals evidence the Five Ways of Working and contribute to our Well-being Objectives?

- 3.1 In setting the revenue budget, the Council needs to consider its corporate priorities as set out in the Corporate Plan 2020-2025 through the new well-being objectives.
- 3.2 These new objectives demonstrate the Council's commitment to the Well-being of Future Generations Act which aims to improve the social, economic, environmental and cultural well-being of Wales and ensures that the needs of the present are met without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own need. Even with reductions in funding, where practical, the Council will strive to maintain services which contribute to this agenda.
- 3.3 In developing the Corporate Plan, the Council has reflected on the way it works and has stated five principles it will follow. These budget proposals reflect this new approach to working. The five ways of working are:

- Looking to the long term - The budget proposals are a means of planning for the future and take a strategic approach to ensure services are sustainable and that future need and demand for services is understood;
- Taking an integrated approach - The budget proposals highlight and encourage ways of working with partners;
- Involving the population in decisions - As part of the budget proposal process there has been engagement with residents, customers and partners;
- Working in a collaborative way - The budget proposals recognise that more can be achieved and better services can be provided by collaboration and it encourages this as a way of working in the future;
- Understanding the root cause of issues and preventing them - The budget process is proactive and allows an understanding of the financial position so that issues can be tackled at the source.
